

If presenting outside of Council, the reader should reference the location they are speaking from- i.e. I am presenting today from Treaty 4,

2021 Land Acknowledgement for County Council

The County of Wellington is unique in that it has multiple treaties that sit in the traditional territory of the Anishinaabe people. Throughout time this land has been, or continues to be, inhabited by other nations including the Attawandaron, Haudenosaunee, Métis, Inuit, and many other First Nations.

We acknowledge that we are not the original stewards of these lands, but now have the responsibility of not only taking care of the land and its people, but ensuring that future generations are able to thrive here.

The County is committed to a better understanding of past, present and future as a gesture of our commitment to the process of reconciliation.
